Foreword

It takes many things to keep life running smoothly; one of the most important is harmony.

No government, family, business, or country can get along without a harmonious working pattern.

It takes many compromises to make life bearable. When you think too much is expected from you, remember other people have to make concessions, too.

If communists, fasists, and other totalitarians, could realize this the world would be a more pleasant place.

Can you imagine listening to a song without harmony? A child sits at a piano and pounds; you don't stop him because he thinks it is wonderful. But do you enjoy it? No, of course not.

Everything improves with harmony. If you can work harmoniously with the people who make up your family, job environment, friendships, you will be not only happier but as proud of your life as a composer is of a beautiful symphony.

Because this is such an important factor in today's complex world, especially for a woman who has to produce harmony in her home, with her children, on the job; the yearbook staff choose harmony for the theme of the 1955 First Lady.

To the Class of 1955

The First Lady again brings greetings and a review of the years at Whitney to graduates of 1955. These three years have probably passed all too quickly. The faculty for certainty, have found them all too brief for the tasks to be accomplished.

What harmony has been achieved has been accomplished because members of the class of 1955 have worked in accord with one another sublimating wishes. In youth this give and take seems difficult; time develops the power; experiences at school, home, work give practice. The end is success in all three areas.

Youth wants to be like others. This desire occasionally leads to disharmony; the young person for a time may be out of step with society and friends. In today's world institutions, social practices and trained personnel are prepared to bring harmony in individual lives.

To seniors—may the years develop a greater and more fruitful harmony in your life. Whitney has made every attempt to prepare the way.

The future is yours.

—Ethel Wooden

Dedication

The class of 1955 proudly dedicates this year's First Lady to Nellie Elise Gerold.

We, the students and faculty, pay homage to a woman who has been able to harmonize successfully with people on the job for forty years.

Born in Toledo as Nellie E. White, later she took primary training at Law's Froebel Kindergarten School. She married Mr. J. G. Gerold in 1910.

Mrs. Gerold taught kindergarten for twenty-seven years. Even though she loved her work with little children, in 1940 when pre-grade schooling came to an end because of lack of funds, she transferred to Whitney to fill a vacancy in the library.

After having already made a successful career, again she had to go back to school to study for a new assignment. She took additional work at the University of Toledo and other colleges.

Every vacation finds Mrs. Gerold traveling among other places to the homes of her devoted nephews whom she had reared because of the death of their mother, her sister. Each has achieved such a place in society as to make parents (even foster parents) proud. William is a doctor of medicine in Rockport, Illinois; Robert teaches history at Brooklyn College in New York; Charles is an engineer with a steel company in Quincy, Massachusetts.

Fortunately for Mrs. Gerold, as well as for others, who are wise enough to so prepare themselves, she is a woman of many resources and hobbies. Reading has always had a prominent place in her leisure hours. Ceramics and needle work have absorbed her interest. Some of her work has appeared in craft exhibits at the Toledo Museum of Art.

Additional time for these endeavors will assure Mrs. Gerold of happiness and contentment in her retirement.

Senior History

Since girls are divided into the shops of their own choosing in the sophomore year, by the time they are seniors their working patterns are different. All shops except Office Practice and Cosmetology have week-about schedules, in which the girl works a week and goes to school a week alternately. Office Practice attend classes until noon; the rest of the day is spent in an office on a co-operative training program. The girls in Cosmetology work on people from the outside giving permanents, hair cuts, facials, manicures. In the spring, this group takes the state board test to see if they qualify as beauty operators.

In March seniors join with the remainder of the student body to celebrate Whitney Day, the school's birthday. They participate in shop meetings and Senior Forums twice a month.

The classes sponsor roasts, skates, and parties. Over Easter vacation seniors take a trip to Washington, to visit the nation's capital.

Just before commencement they hold the prom, a lasting memory for every girl. Then the big day arrives. Eyes sparkle as each girl walks on stage to receive her diploma; a thrilling moment in her memories of school years.

She has worked in harmony twelve years with other students and faculty members; now she is ready to prove herself capable of bigger responsibilities.

Junior History

Girls, who have understood Whitney and her ideas for the improvement of students, have returned for another year of accomplishment and fun.

School opening for them brought a thrilling moment, fitting class rings. This is a time long to remember. Since rings may be purchased by upperclassmen only, it gave the girls a new feeling of achievement.

Juniors soon found that the treasury was crying to be filled, so they sponsored a candy sale to raise funds.

Another project in which they participated was the Student Council dance, Cornstalk Shuffle, held in Whitney's gym. Junior-Senior day provides fun for them as hostesses for their senior guests. Only upperclassmen take part in this affair.

In May the different shops elect the girls, who they think are capable of making the senior year a memorable one, to be officers of the class.

Juniors are invited to the Junior-Senior prom which ends the term on a note of fulfillment and anticipation of the year to follow.

Sophomore History

The sophomore class of '54 had many questions in mind when they walked through welcoming doors of Whitney on September 8, 1954.

They were now entering a school which will try to change them into women able to have a career as well as establish a home. It is different from the academic schools they originally attended. They have to learn to work hard for the skills necessary to job success.

However, school is not all work and no play; for they sponsored an all sophomore dance, the Halloween Hop, a delightful party. Time is spent on other activities, such as shop meetings, in which the girls plan and learn to know classmates better. Assemblies held in Macomber auditorium are open to sophomores as well as upperclassmen.

The entire school participates in a Christmas party, which is like no other such occasion.

In the spring sophomores elect officers who try to fulfill their wishes in the junior year.

By the end of the second semester they begin to understand Whitney and the opportunities she offers those who are willing to accept them.
